Last week in music we listened to music and explored how it made us feel, we expressed those feeling through movement and dance. This week we are going to listening to music and express how it makes us feel through art.

Music can be very powerful and when we listen to it, it can make us feel lots of different emotions and feelings. It can make us feel...

Happy
Hopeful Confident

Sleepy
Sad
Bored

Mad
Irritated
Angry

Scared
Worried

Theme tune from Jaws the movie.

Eye of the tiger.

Can you feel the love tonight.

Activity.

You will need some paper and something to draw with, pencils, crayons or felt tips will do.

Listen to the piece of music, notice how it makes you feel then draw that feeling. There are four pieces of music to listen to.

If you like the piece of music you might draw things that make you feel happy like flowers, rainbows or hearts. You could even chose colours that you like and shade on the paper.

If the music makes you feel sad you could draw something that makes you feel sad, rainy cold days, not seeing friends and family. You could even chose colours and do scribble art.

It's your picture, you go with and draw what expresses your feelings.

How does the music
make you

You could try listening to other genres (types) of music and draw how the music makes you feel.

You could show us your pictures and say how the music made you feel. We would love to see them.
